

ASSIGNMENT 4

Using noise reduction algorithms will reduce the apparent noise in your photo, but it also harms legitimate details and makes them less sharp. If you use too much noise reduction, you'll end up with photos that look like plastic. That's far worse than some simple grain. Noise reduction is still a useful tool.

